

AMULET SCREEN DEFENDER™

Ballistic Protection for Security Screening Checkpoints

Protecting Front-Line Security Personnel from Full Spectrum Ballistic Threats

Security Screening Checkpoints are a function of Access Control and proven frontline security tool common to countless facilities. While most employ sophisticated imaging technology for detection, little attention has been given to protecting frontline personnel from sudden ballistic violence. Until now.

With the introduction of Amulet® Ballistic Barrier technology to the security screening process, a new layer of physical protection is now available to mitigate loss of life and injury should the unthinkable happen.
