CONTRACT FURNITURE PRODUCTS EMBED WITH AMULET® BALLISTIC BARRIERS ARE NOW ELIGIBLE FOR FEMA NON-DISASTER GRANT AS A COUNTERTERRORISM ‘DEVICE’

DATE: SEPTEMBER 20, 2017

Dear Amulet Alliance Partner,

Amulet® Ballistic Barriers are quickly gaining recognition worldwide for their ability to ‘invisibly’ protect the public space from both gun and blast violence. When embed within contract furnishings (i.e. your products), Amulet® technology enables these furnishings to not only be used for their intended purpose, but also serve as a counterterrorism ‘device’; with the ability to mitigate death and injury should ballistic violence occur.

In recognition of the ability of contract furnishings embed with Amulet® Ballistic Barriers to also serve as a ‘ballistic shield’, providing an additional layer of security to virtually any public environment, the US Federal Government has allocated funds that may be appropriated under the US Homeland Security Grant Program (HSGP... <https://www.dhs.gov/homeland-security-grant-program-hsgp>) for procurement. Administered by FEMA (<https://www.fema.gov/preparedness-non-disaster-grants>) these Grants allow for the procurement a ballistic shield ‘device’ that will protect personnel from small arms fire (AEL/SEL No. 01LE-01-SHLD), as well as blast mitigation from IED’s (AEL/SEL No. 02EX-02-TLEX). Both may be found on the Authorized Equipment List (AEL) shown on the above FEMA web-link.

It is important to recognize that products embed with Amulet® Ballistic Barriers for public environments are now considered a ‘security device’ and may be procured utilizing HSGP funds. This would include not only our technology, but the form factor in which it is delivered (Amulet® Ballistic Barriers in conjunction with commercial furnishing products are considered a ‘system’ or ‘device’). As a result, HSGP funds may be utilized to procure furnishings that would otherwise be purchased utilizing a project’s furnishing budget. HSGP funds may also be utilized for simple appropriation.
